END-USER CASE STUDY

Leading U.S. Manufacturer Offers Custom Printing with the TrojanLabel® T3-OPX

A U.S.-based company and leading manufacturer of specialty corrugated products in the bakery and delicatessen industries successfully integrated the TrojanLabel T3-OPX into production, allowing for custom print capabilities without any limitations of shapes, sizes, or minimum order quantities while offering the durability necessary for product shipping, storing, and customer handling. Producing a full line-up of circles, trays, and a wide range of custom packaging for unique projects, this company offers customers a range of coatings to make products greaseproof and freezer proof and was in the market for a solution that would offer custom print capabilities. Since the introduction of the T3-OPX, they can now offer customers exactly what they need in the exact quantities needed, eliminating unnecessary waste.
